NSF’s GRFP is one of the premier graduate fellowship programs in the United States. In support of its federal mandate to advance science and engineering in US, NSF created the GRFP with a goal of nurturing and growing a dynamic and diverse talent pool for the US engineering and scientific community.

Notable Recepients
Steven Chu, US Secretary of Energy
Sergey Brin, Founder of Google
Other recipients include Nobel Laureats & NASA Scientists

Informational Workshop
April 21, 2021
NYU Zoom
12 - 1 PM

Annual Stipend of $34,000 for 3 years
Additional $12,000 / year for education
2000 awards granted per year

* Applicants must be citizens or permanent residents of US