NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION GRADUATE RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

NSF's GRFP is one of the premier graduate fellowship programs in the United States. In support of its federal mandate to advance science and engineering in US, NSF created the GRFP with a goal of nurturing and growing a dynamic and diverse talent pool for the US engineering and scientific community.

Notable Receipients

Steven Chu, US Secretary of Energy
Sergey Brin, Founder of Google
Other recipients include Nobel Laureats & NASA Scientists

Annual Stipend of $34,000 for 3 years

Additional $12,000 / year for education

2000 awards granted per year

Informational Workshop

February 25, 2020

Rogers Hall 304

11 AM - 12 PM

* Applicants must be citizens or permanent residents of US

NYU | TANDON SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

engineering.nyu.edu/fellowops